

Cesar Alberto is a mechanical engineer with a PhD in Cabin Safety, has been working for 25 years at Embraer in the area of interior engineering as a Cabin Safety and Airworthiness engineer. He is currently chairman of the Cabin Safety Working Group / ICCAIA where together with almost 30 members he works in new regulations, harmonization of regulations between certification authorities and dissemination of this technology. He is also a researcher in Cabin Safety aiming to increase adherence of this technology to the development of cabin interiors with new technologies.